

MARK BOWER

EMPLOYEE BENEFITS CONSULTANT

Mark Bower joined the MJ Insurance team in 2009 as employee benefits consultant and brings with him over a decade of industry experience. His proficiency in developing innovative solutions for his clients' employee benefits programs has allowed him to flourish in this ever-changing market.

Mark specializes in maximizing employee benefits to support an organization's strategy, managing costs and risk, enhancing employee recruitment, increasing employee retention and satisfaction, creative pharmaceutical solutions and improving communication and perception of benefits to employees along with extensive experience in developing wellness programs and onsite/nearsite clinics. At MJ Insurance, Mark and his team work to provide value and unparalleled service to all of its clients while helping to execute risk management strategies in alignment with their unique company goals.

Outside of MJ, Mark is passionate about his family, friends and IU athletics. Specifically, Mark likes to watch IU basketball and football. Another one of Marks passions is traveling and learning new cultures. In the future, he would like to take an entire year off to travel the world uninterrupted.
